'It is our choices, Harry, that show what we truly are ...'

Albus Dumbledore to Harry Potter,
J.K. Rowling, Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets

The UK Committee on Climate Change published their Annual progress report last week stating that our solid Net Zero strategy is not being sufficiently supported by policies on the ground. The report called, amongst other things, for more public information campaigns – 'it is not nannying, it is merely helping people to make their own choices', said Lord Deben, Committee Chair.

This week's Young Climate Warriors challenge is about making 'informed choices'. Sometimes it's more difficult to continue being a Young Climate Warrior when out in the sunshine and having fun. Young Climate Warriors are challenged this summer to move beyond the 'cheapest', 'easiest', 'peer-led' choices to making carbon-cutting choices that can help benefit our planet.

Summer time choices ...

Summer is here, can you choose to be a Young Climate Warrior when you are out as well as at home?

Can you remember the re-usable carrier bags? Fill up your water bottles? Say 'no thank you' to straws, avoid drinks cartons?

What's best for our planet may not always be the cheapest, easier, 'coolest' option - what will you choose?

Maybe join the Great Nurdle Hunt - 'nurdles' are small lentil sized plastic pellets that wash up on beaches and river banks.

This week's challenge:
8th July
